Important Special Notice to the Voters of Arlington.

All Votes MUST be cast in the Town Hall and time allowed for voting will be determined by the meeting.

This notice is printed to CORRECT the notice appearing in the local papers stating hours and places for voting on the Limited Town Meeting Act.

Board of Selectmen,

By THOMAS J. ROBINSON, Clerk.

IT'S UP TO YOU.

Next Monday, at ROBBINS ME-MORIAL TOWN HALL ONLY, citizens of Arlington will vote, yes or no, on acceptance of the Act of the Legislature empowering the town to conduct its financial and other local affairs, other than the election of town officers, on the Limited Town Meeting plan.

At a town meeting called to consider and act upon the report of a committee chosen at a previous meeting to devise a plan for accomplishing the desired object, it voted by an overwhelming majority to instruct the Selectmen to petition the Legislature for an enabling Act. It is on this enabling Act, drawn at the request of the legal voters and by them endorsed at the meeting referred to, that citizens are to vote next Monday.

The initiative in this matter was taken less from inclination than from necessity. The town has grown beyond the possibility of legally transacting its business under the old town meeting laws. In fact, several years ago, before the Robbins Memorial was built, a special Act of the Legislature was secured to make meetings in old Town Hall legal.
That temporary easement no longer functions because of increased citizenship, without considering nearly doubling the voting strength of the town by the enfranchisement of women.

The plan was drawn by a committee having full confidence of the town. After full and free discussion by a meeting of unusual size, it was given more than the required vote in favor. It has had the endorsement of highest legal authority and approval by the legislature. As we have said, it is now up to you, Mr.
and Mrs. legal voter.

It is perhaps worth saying that some other large towns, confronted with this excess of voters beyond the capacity of any available hall, will erect big tents in some open lot, in which to transact town business. Is not the plan now offered us the better way?

In a conspicuous advertisement on page one, as well as in the warrant left at every house in town, will be found full particulars as to hours when the polls will be open and other details. Be sure and vote.

LAMBERT MURPHY Sings in Arlington.

Arlington Teachers' club's annual concert course was opened on Monday evening in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, with Lambert Murphy, the well-known tenor singer, as the artist.

The course was announced but a few weeks ago, but through the splendid assistance of pupils in the different schools who took tickets to sell, an audience that packed the hall greeted this famous singer. It was to be regretted that late-comers were permitted to be seated after Mr. Murphy had appeared on the stage for his first group of songs. He was obliged to wait fully two minutes before the audience was quiet enough for him to begin his program. Probably the management will see to it that this embarrassing situation is not repeated at the following concerts.

Mr. Murphy was accompanied at the piano by Mr. Charles Baker and his splendid work added a good deal to the enjoyment of the singer with whom he appeared to be in perfect sympathy. Mr. Murphy arranged a program that was sure to please an audience of real musicians as well as those who are just lovers of music that is tuneful, and that he pleased all was evinced by the hearty applause that greeted him at the conclusion of each group of songs and several encores were insisted upon.

The singer's voice is too well known for the reporter to attempt to add a word, for he has a wide reputation as an opera as well as an oratorio and a concert singer. He has a voice of rare quality and sweetness, especially in his high register, and ranks among the first in his line of work. Never has Arlington had a more finished singer in Town Hall, not only in point of voice but of ease and grace, with none of the mannerisms that often mar the singing of even a great artist.

As will be seen from the following program, Mr. Murphy gave his more taxing numbers first. His rendering of Fauré's "Chevauchée Cosaque" (the Cossack horseman) was dramatically done, and displayed the singer's breadth of tone, while his next number, "Avril pose ses pieds lents," (April places her footsteps slow), was sung in just the right atmosphere of beauty and grace. Of course "Christ in Flanders" was a popular number, and as sung by Mr.
Murphy, left nothing to be desired.
It was perfect. "When the roses bloom" left his audience breathless for a half second, and one could have heard the clock tick during his singing of this well known song, which he was obliged to repeat before his audience was satisfied.

The crowning number of this musical treat was the last when Mr. Murphy's voice rang out in the closing lines of the song, "God is Eternal Life! there is no death," and one felt that a sermon had been preached by the singer, for his perfect enunciation not only in this number, but of his entire program made it possible for his audience to follow the singer even in the smallest word. The audiences was loathe to leave the hall, even after Mr. Murphy had sung an encore to his last number. The program follows:—

AGIDE JACCHIA

Mr. Agide Jacchia, who will conduct the orchestra of Boston Symphony players in Town Hall, next Thursday evening, ranks among the foremost of present day musicians.
Locally he is known as a composer and director, being conductor of the Lyons, director of the Cecilia society, and conductor of the Symphony players in the Art Museum concerts.
for the recent Fokine dances, and on other occasions. As is natural in so thorough a musician, Mr. Jacchia is imbued with the highest musical idealism; and it is his ambition to transfuse into the life of America, in appreciation of her glorious privileges of civil and religious liberty, something of the richness and sweet happiness which his native Italy and other European countries derive from their traditional love of good music. To do this he has established the Boston Conservatory of Music, where he hopes through government aid to make it possible for anyone with talent to procure a thorough musical training, entirely free, if necessity requires. The school is unique among the musical schools of Boston in that it is conducted under the European system and with the close personal direction and supervision of Mr. Jacchia. This Conservatory will be of special interest to residents of Arlington, because Miss Helene G. Robertson, formerly head of the Latin department in the High School, is now its secretary; and Miss Mildred Barney, of the centre, and Miss Edith Byram, of the Heights are registered in the Pianoforte department; Miss Byram being one of the advanced pupils studying with Mr. Hans Ebell.

FREDERICK H. PARKS DECEASED.

This quiet and courteous man,
Mr. Parks, was taken ill two weeks previous to his death, which occurred at his home, 26 Brighton street, Belmont. He passed away on the date of his birthday, which was January 13th. Mr. Parks was born in Belmont, in 1850, the son of Alfred and Almira R. Frost Parks.

On April 19th, 1880, he married Martha A. Hill in Arlington, the ceremony being performed by Father Harkins. There were three sons by the union. They are George Parks of Arlington, Edward of Belmont and Herbert Parks of Haverhill. There are three grand-children.

In February, 1883, as a young man, he entered the employ of Mr.
E. C. Turner of Pleasant street as coachman and gardener and gave faithful service until the death of Mr.
Turner in 1907. He continued in the employ of Mrs. Turner until stricken with pneumonia. In all the 38 years of service he was faithful and conscientious, always willing to perform any duty required of him. He was a lover of flowers and spent his spare time in the greenhouse, where the plants and flowers showed the good care he gave them.

Mr. Parks will be greatly missed, not only by the Turner family but by all in Arlington who have seen him, a familiar figure, day after day, for many years, driving about the town.
It can well be said of him, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things. I will make the ruler over

HOOVER EUROPEAN RELIEF FUND.

At the "Invisible Guest" dinner given by Mr. Hoover last week Thursday, it was announced that this state had subscribed $600,000, but that $400,000 more was needed to complete the $1,000,000 Massachusetts has been expected to raise. It was urged that each person who had given should consider whether he could give again and then also to see if he could not get someone else to give. For this reason the Arlington committee comes again, asking those who have given, to see if they can give more, and especially urging those who have not done so to give now and at once.

Could everyone have seen the pictures of those starving children thrown on the screen at that dinner, we feel that Arlington would easily double her subscription. We have now $3,529,770. Let us make it the $5,000,000 we set as our goal. As Dr.
Laund said at that dinner, "if we do not get into the League of Nations, at least let us get into the League of Humanity."

OVER THE TEA CUPS.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, in one of his charming papers, speaks of gossiping "over the tea cups." In the flight of time a good many parents are left with nothing but the tea cups to gossip over. A friend of mine a few years ago counted four children around the table, with hungry bodies and hungry minds. Now they have all left the home nest, and nearly all of them are housekeeping on their own account. Their parents are not old, but they are left to their tea cups.

Their experience is not uncommon. Multitudes of people marry, bring up a family and then revert with a change to the honeymoon period with the moon in the last half or quarter. Of course grandchildren come around sometimes to break in upon an afternoon nap and to fill festive days with frolic. Yet old, grey heads wonder, in their serious moments, whether it is worth while. Some families turn out splendidly, and carry the name and prestige of the family higher and higher, but some do not. There doesn't seem to be any way of foretelling the outcome.

Said a plain spoken man to parents of a brilliant son: "He's a chip of the old block, but the chip is larger than the block." No parent will object to the chip outdoing the block; but why should not this be the case always. Some learned psychologists may throw light on this problem. Indeed, it may be surmised that some parents hesitate to bring many children into the world lest they should disgrace their parents and curse the world. When a brilliant man was taunted as being an only son, he replied in self defense, "Unum sed Lionem" other breed as bunnies, and society has to bear the burden sometimes.

The state encourages the rearing of large families, even offering a premium for numbers. Years ago, we are told, that families usually ran almost if not quite into the teens. Around the table gathered from ten to a dozen frequently, and they became a valuable asset in household wealth. On the farm, for instance, they became real helpers in cultivating the fields, and in felling the forests. Nowadays children become a source of income among the mill workers, oftentimes a necessary source. Except for these little hands, many parents would not know how to keep the wolf from the door. Others of course seek to swell the income in this way for the sake of the money.

To some extent, depending upon circumstances, there is no good reason why children should not lend a hand toward meeting household expenses. The best gift of God is work—not exhaustive, prostrating work—but work enough to promote health. Farmers' boys and girls used to do chores, greatly to their benefit, although they did not always see it in that light, but now the boys and girls take to athletics. Perhaps it is Hobson's choice, although chores are not very attractive.

Then there are not many around the family board in these degenerate days. Sometimes three, so as to make good for the state, and one to spare, and sometimes one poor, spoiled offspring. Whether families should be produced like pumpkins or beans, whether households less than a dozen should be in disgrace, whether a fine should be imposed on childless homes in the interest of the common weal, your readers must judge for themselves. Anyhow the prolific will possess the earth, whether they fill the offices or not.

Personally, I value quality more than quantity.

Burns had this in mind when he wrote:

"Belyve, the elder bairns come-drawing in. At service out, among the farmers' room. Some ca' the plough, some herd, some tentie rin."

A cannie errand to a neighbor town: The eldest hope, their Jenny, woman grown. In youthfu' bloom, love sparkling in her e'e. Comes home; perhaps, toshave a brow new gown.

Or deposit her sair-won penny-fee. To help her parents dear, if they in hardship be.

With joy unfeign'd, brothers and sisters meet. And each for other's welfare kindly spiers: The social hours, swift-wing'd, unnoticed, fleet.

Each tells the uncos that he sees or hears: The parents partial eye their hopeful years: Anticipation forward points the view: The mother, with her needle and her sheers, Gaze said class look amidst as weel's the new.

The father mixes a' wi' admonition due.

Yet whether there be many or few, sooner or later the old folks nod at each other over the tea cups, and the nest once full becomes almost empty. We who have rounded out three or four score years get about after awhile to the beginning again, with a difference. Our day is done, our generation becomes few, and we become almost strangers in the land where once we led the procession. We almost fall asleep over the two tea cups.

JOHN G. TAYLOR

FIRST MUSICAL

Under Direction Music Com. Arlington Woman's Club.

Thursday afternoon, Jan. 13th, the first musicale in the series of three that are to be held under the direction of the music committee of the Arlington Woman's club, of which Mrs. H. B. Wood is chairman, was held at the home of the Misses Lena W. and Alice Grayce Lenk, 7 Chapman street. Miss Alice Lenk is a member of the music committee, and the members of the same were most appreciative of the courtesy of the Misses Lenk for opening their attractive home for this first musicale. The rooms lent themselves most admirably and looked especially inviting, with vases filled with lovely roses and other flowers. Admission to these musicales are limited to seventy-five, and nearly all of those who had sent in their names to the committee (as requested) expressing their desire to attend were present.

The program was in charge of Mrs. H. H. Stinson (chairman of the afternoon). Mrs. Frank H. Hubbard and Mrs. John H. Sawyer. It was an afternoon devoted to American composers, Mrs. Stinson opening it with a paper that was most illuminating and added greatly to the afternoon for no end of information was gleaned from Mrs. Stinson's paper. Some of the compositions of well known composers were given by a group of artists, after a brief sketch of their career had been read by Mrs. Stinson.

The first were piano selections from MacDowell, played by Miss Louise Bacon, who altho' still a high school pupil, shows considerable musical ability. Mrs. J. Herbert Mead gave two groups of songs by Arthur Foote and Chadwick, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Edward Shirley. They were especially adapted to Mrs. Mead's voice, and she gave pleasure to her audience by her rendering of these two attractive groups of songs. Mrs. Neal Burnell of Brookline, accompanied at the piano by Mr. Francis Starr, sang compositions of Mrs. H. H. Beach, and Cecil Burleigh as well as other composers.

The other young talented musician on the program was Mr. George Brown of Melrose. He is a rising young 'cellist' who already has done considerable concert work and shows that he has more than ordinary ability in his playing of this beautiful toned instrument. He was accompanied by his mother and gave numbers from Chadwick and Frederick Converse, at the end deviating from the theme of the afternoon by playing a French composition.

These musicales promise to be a pleasant innovation inaugurated by the music department of the club. The next one will be held in February, at the home of Mrs. James A. Bailey.

THE ARLINGTON NATIONAL BANK.

In our last week's issue we reported the annual meeting of this recent addition to Arlington's financial institutions and gave the names of the directors in charge of its affairs. While the names given are familiar to older residents, the rapid growth of Arlington in recent years, has brought hundreds to whom "all things are new." For their benefit and at the request of President Noyes and Cashier Hildreth, we republish the list of directors, appending a brief outline of the business connections of the board, as follows:

MAURICE P. AHERN, a prominent real estate agent in East Arlington, a man active in affairs in that section, and a man who has always lived in Arlington.

MR. HERBERT F. ALLEN, prominent market gardener in Arlington and the managing trustee of the Allen Estate, which is being very advantageously developed by the erection of very attractive houses.

WILLIAM T. BEATTIE, President of the Cambridge Color & Chemical Company and a very substantial and successful business man.

ARTHUR BIRCH, owner of Arlington Machine Works, a man who needs no introduction to Arlington people.

REFUS W. BLAKE, who is and always has been one of Arlington's successful and respected business men.

GUILFORD D. BROWN, an Arlington resident, owner of many successful drug stores, Trustee of Masonic departments, Treasurer of Masonic Lodge and Senior Trustee of a large cooperative bank.

DAVID BUTTRICK, a well known distributor of dairy products.

HERBERT L. COX, a very successful market gardener, always having lived in the Mystic side section of Arlington adjoining Winchester; well known to the older residents of Arlington.

DR. DAVID C. DOW, prominent Cambridge physician and Medical Examiner for Middlesex County.

PHILIP EBERHARDT, the controlling interest in the well known Theodore Schwann Piano Case Company, manufacturing the highest grade piano cases; a long established and well and favorably known institution in Arlington.

HARRISON L. EVANS of James Fitzpatrick & Company, a well and favorably known banking house on State street.

PHILIP A. HENDRICK, former chairman of the Board of Selection of Arlington for Merit Town Counsel for many years and now cooperation counsel for several large corporations.

EDWARD C. HILDRETH, Cashier of the Bank formerly associated with the National Shawmut Bank of Boston for many years.

ERNEST R. KIMBALL, always a resident of Arlington, the son of the late George A. Kimball, former chief engineer of the Boston Elevated Railway.

FRANK V. NOYES, President of the Bank Vice-President of the Charlestown Savings Bank, a member of the corporation of the Arlington Five Cent Savings Bank, a member of the firm of J. Kaser, Carney & Luffier Company, one of the largest insurance firms in Boston and also director and officer in many successful financial institutions.

GEORGE H. RICE, a leading shoe merchant of Arlington.

ELLIOTT E. SMITH, President of the Direct Shoe Company and a large real estate owner in Arlington and Cambridge.

GEORGE McLEAN, Treasurer of Isaac McLean Sons Company, contractors of store, office and bank fixtures.

ERNEST A. SNOW, an architect and builder.

After the adjournment of the stockholders' meeting the directors convened and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:—Frank V. Noyes, president; Elliott E. Smith, vice-president; Edward C. Hildreth, cashier.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION.

G. A. R. Hall on the evening of Jan. 13 would remind one of the olden days of the installations of the comrades of Francis Gould Post 36, G. A. R., town officials from Arlington and Belmont, comrades of the G. A. R. from neighboring posts, a delegation from Arlington Post of the American Legion, Sons of Veterans, and members of the strong arm of the post, the W. R. C., being guests to witness the ceremony and partake of the bountiful supper which was served in the early evening by the ladies. It was a big day for both organizations, for in the afternoon the ladies were installed, the installing officer being Mrs. Mary E. Holbrook, past department president, assisted by past department secretary, Mrs. Hattie M. Tuttle. The officers of the W. R. C. installed were:

GOOD WORK BY C. S. PARKER & SON

the installing officer and her assistant and the new president of the corps.

The supper being one of the big features of opening of the installation of Post 36, the ladies, under the direction of Mrs. Carolyn R. Morse, prepared a turkey supper with all the "fixins." These suppers prepared by the local corps are famous all through G. A. R. circles, and needless to say they are much enjoyed.

The supper was informal in every way and after the good things had been disposed of, all adjourned to the upper hall for a social hour.

The comrades of the post were installed by Senior Vice-Commander of the Mass. department, G. A. R., Edwin Morrill, a member of Post 156 of Everett. Comrade Harry A. Kellogg of the same post, and brother of the new commander of Post 36, was the officer of the day. The officers installed were:

Commander—Charles P. Kellogg. Sr. Vice-Commander—Andrew Hubbard. Jr. Vice-Commander—George A. Locke. Surgeon—A. L. Wells. Quartermaster—Sylvester C. Frost. Chaplain—Henry Clark. Officer of the Day—Andrew McGinnis. Officer of the Guard—Henry W. Berthrong.

Patrician Instructor—Charles S. Parker. Adjutant—Alfred H. Knowles. The installation was followed by many addresses by the installing officers and many of the guests present. Mrs. Margaret Hamilton of Draper avenue spoke for the Army nurses. Selectman Charles B. Deyereux, Commander Herbert F. White, Mrs. Chapman of the W. R. C. spoke in an entertaining way and a number of the comrades responded to the call of the commander. Rev. Don Ivan Patch, pastor of the Orthodox Congregational church and a veteran of the late war, made a happy introduction of himself to a mixed audience in responding to a call from the presiding officer for remarks.

TREMONT THEATRE.

David Warfield is booked to appear at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, on Monday, Jan. 24, for an engagement of two weeks, in David Belasco's most noteworthy play, "The Return of Peter Grimm." The distinguished star appears under the direction of Mr. Belasco, who has supervised every detail of this revival of his dramatic masterpiece.

"The Return of Peter Grimm" was first produced at the Belasco Theatre, New York, nine years ago, and after a long metropolitan run it was played throughout the country with notable success. Because of its very original and rather daring theme—namely, the continuation of individual existence after death—the play aroused wide and profound discussion; while at the same time it afforded the keenest delight to playgoers in general by reason of its fascinating story; its wealth of human appeal, and its well-nigh perfect dramaticity.

The play is revived in exactly the manner of the first production, and several members of the original cast are to be seen in the role that they created. Among the most important of these players are Marie Bates, Joseph Brennan, John Sainpolis, John F. Webber and William Boag. Notable among the new members of the organization are Miriam Doyle, Geo. Wellington, Bertha Fiebach, Charles Crumpton and David Malcom. The usual matinees will be given on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

HISTORY OF UNITY LEND-A-HAND, LEXINGTON, MASS.

Read at the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Its Organization, Jan. 14, 1921.

In ancient days, a patriarch of each tribe was delegated by his chief to note the current events of the time, the achievements of warriors, councils of war and peace, conquests and defeats, treaties with other tribes, in fact, to act as a sort of recording secretary and to teach the younger generations their tribal history so that they might properly revere the prowess of their elders.

Today, I feel like unto the patriarch of old, for while happily my story is not one of war and conquest, I have been asked by our chief to tell something of the aims and achievements of Unity Lend-a-Hand during a quarter century of activity.

We are twenty-five years old, and it seems safe to say that the charter members at least show their age. Like children and very elderly people we are proud of our years, and if our story savors over much of the personal, may we not be excused on the ground of our great age and because a birthday party must, from its nature be a distinctly personal occasion.

On New Year's Day, 1896, twelve girls met at the home of Miss Clara W. Harrington, our founder, and organized Unity Lend-a-Hand. Miss Harrington was a teacher in the First Parish Sunday school at this time and several of the charter members were her pupils. It may be of interest to hear the original list of members:—Mary D. Hunt, May S. Harrington, Clara Bigelow, Mabelle C. Janvrin, Amy E. Taylor, Clara F. McIntyre, Lilley O. Smith, Clara B. Shaw, Fannie M. Tower, Theodora M. Robinson, Bertha L. Wright and Edith F. Martin.

Five of the charter members are still active in the work of the club and are here today. They are: Mrs. Mabelle Janvrin Tower, Mrs. Clara Bigelow Ballard and the Misses Hunt, Harrington and Taylor.

The first officers of the club were: President, Miss Hunt; first vice-president, Miss May Harrington; second vice-president, Miss Taylor; secretary and treasurer, Miss Lilley Smith.

Since 1896, seventeen members have served as president, and their terms of office have never exceeded two successive years. Thirteen of this number are still active members, and one is an associate member.

Not long after the first meeting, we formally adopted a constitution and by-laws which have served so well that with the exception of a few minor changes we govern ourselves by the same regulations that were used in the early days of the club.

There is one article of the original constitution which was dropped several years ago. It read as follows:—Article II, Section 1. Any girl of good moral character over fifteen years of age is entitled to membership in this circle. Although candidates for membership sign an application blank, questions as to character and age are omitted, possibly on the principle that charity begins at home.

During the first years of our club existence the special work was making infants' clothing. Monthly meetings were held and many special meetings, too. Sewing was done with zeal and enthusiasm and what we lacked was done at home, also. Each member was responsible for a "stint" and fines were imposed when it was not completed at the appointed time.

At the end of our first season, several babies' trousseaus had been finished and on June third, in this vestry, we held our first fair. The admission charged was five cents or a pair of old shoes, and our stock in trade was aprons, fancy and household articles, candy and lemonade. At the close of the sale we felt that we were capitalists indeed, for we had cleared $85.35 and had in addition a large collection of boots and shoes that had seen better days.

A week later, the club held a business meeting and voted to give $42 of our wealth to various worthy objects and $15 to Country Week.

No active work was undertaken during the following summer, although members were ready to respond to any call that might be made during the vacation and several girls assisted the Mutual Helpers in the distribution of flowers to the poor and sick in Boston.

In 1897 and 1898 the club gave a successful dance at the old Belfry Club and a lawn party combined with a sale. As a result, we were able to give $100 to the Floating Hospital, $25 to Hale Endowment Fund and smaller sums to other worthy causes.

The following three years made many changes in our little circle. Several members resigned, three or four were away at school or college and Unity Lend-a-Hand saw dark days. To the faithful few who kept alive the Lend-a-Hand spirit and who steadfastly looked up and not down, forward and not back, we owe a debt of gratitude.

A few new recruits joined the club and they worked willingly and well. Dances, entertainments and sales were tried with varying success until in 1900 our first cafe concert was held at the Old Belfry Club.

An audience which filled the hall was seated at small tables and ice cream, cake and coffee were served. The admission fee was twenty-five cents and an additional charge was made for refreshments. With a vaudeville program which consisted of twenty-two numbers and a determination in our hearts to do or die we gave an entertainment which lasted nearly four hours. It seems no exaggeration to say that the public got their money's worth. Those in the audience who were not too exhausted at the close of the performance, complimented the club on its master effort, and Unity Lend-a-Hand had a new lease of life. The first cafe concert netted $80, and we promptly voted to give $75 to Country Week. It is interesting to note that with the prudence and foresight not always found in the young, it was "Voted—to keep some little surplus money in the bank."

During the succeeding two years the club saw many changes. Serious illness had come to thin the ranks and it was impossible to accomplish much that we were eager to do. Cafe concerts were given successfully and were the chief source of income. There are those here today who remember the year when not more than six members carried on the work, but to the credit of the survivors not once was it suggested that the club disband.

Yet again Fortune smiled upon us, and Leap Year gave us another chance. Two dances were held, one on February 29th, the other at Halloween. Popular "patrons" graced the occasion and whatever other results may have come from these parties our treasury was substantially benefited. In connection with the preparation for one of these parties it is interesting to note in the secretary's records that it was Voted—to serve nothing but cider and water and that a committee consisting of Miss Beth Smith and Miss Taylor be appointed to attend to this matter.

1904 was marked by an important innovation in the management of the cafe concert. It was held in Town Hall instead of at the Old Belfry Club. Many difficulties incident to the staging and scenery had to be overcome but the affair was a signal success and the net proceeds of $150 nearly doubled those of previous years.

These concerts were given annually from 1900 to 1912, inclusive, the last being a Dickens entertainment at which tableaux sketches and dialogues were cleverly produced in artistic settings. Many ambitious and amusing specialties were the attractions at these concerts and the stage committee taxed its ingenuity to produce settings for minstrels, "freaks," song sheets, plays and canoe scenes.

The popularity of the concerts became so great that a line of ticket purchasers would form in the street during the wee small hours and patiently wait until the box office opened at seven in the morning. Strict impartiality was the rule of the management and the number of tickets sold to each person was limited so that all might be served fairly.

In passing, I want to pay a grateful and affectionate tribute to the memory of Mr. James Bouquet, Mr. Herbert G. Locke, Mr. William Allen Butler and Dr. Nathaniel H. Merriam, who gave so generously of their talents to help our cause.

We recall, too, our beloved pastor, the late Rev. Carlton A. Staples, whose genial personality and hearty interest in every good work inspired all who knew him.

In 1906 the club celebrated the tenth anniversary of its organization. Miss May Harrington was president and a reception, a short program of entertainment and a tea were held in this vestry. A letter of congratulation from Dr. Hale was read, and the late Mrs. Bernard Whitman, who represented the Lend-a-Hand Society, extended greetings and good wishes. A report of the year's work of our club was read by the secretary and Maj. Hunter of the Salvation Army gave an account of the work of that splendid organization. A social hour followed the more formal exercises.

1912 appears to have been a most strenuous year. Until then our membership was limited to twenty-five, but when Lexington Lend-a-Hand retired from public work it was voted to increase the limit to thirty-five. Mrs. Allen C. Smith was president, and during her term of office the club gave a Leap Year dance, a cafe concert, and food sale, and in December our first Christmas fair, which netted the fabulous sum of $637.40.

During the years of the Great War our members did their "bit," individually and collectively, and many of us felt that Lend-a-Hand interests ought not to be neglected however pressing and worthy were the world-wide demands upon time, strength and resources. Luncheon and sewing meetings, the one social feature of the club, were held in homes instead of in the vestry because of the need for coal conservation. Sugar and flour shortages complicated our difficulties at the time of sales or entertainments, but nevertheless the Christmas fairs increased in popularity and in proceeds each succeeding year.

During the past twenty-five years the club has earned $15,953.85 and expended $15,215.81 approximately. The income during the first ten years exceeded by a few hundred dollars only the proceeds of the 1920 fair.

In 1919 we received our only legacy, $500, from Miss Alice Butler Cary, whose interest in our work had been often and generously expressed during her life.

Some of the objects to which the club has contributed are: Country Week, Hale Endowment Fund, Floating Hospital, Llewellyn Lodge, Salvation Army, Sailors' Haven, East End Christian Union, a free bed at the Massachusetts General Hospital, N. E. Peabody Home for Crippled Children, Dr. Grenfell's Mission, Lexington Fellowship of Charities, Child Welfare Work, Young Women's Christian Association, the San Francisco, Chelsea and Halifax Relief Funds, Francis Willard Settlement, various appeals for worthy causes from the Lend-a-Hand Central Office and many individual cases, the latter perhaps the most appealing of all.

Twice the Lexington and Unity clubs have jointly entertained the autumn conference. In 1916 we served a luncheon to about two hundred delegates and it has been our intention to be represented at all conferences and annual meetings of the society.

Seventy-eight women have been connected with the club during the past twenty-five years. The present membership is forty and there are two associate members and one honorary member, the Lend-a-Hand baby, Miss Dorothy Norris, who became one of our members when two weeks old.

Four members have died. Fannie

Morey Tower, one of our most faithful and devoted workers, was loyal to the club from its organization until her death on September 13, 1901.

We remember her today with love and tenderness. Mrs. Beulah Rice Smith, another member, met her death by accident on May 11, 1913, and the club lost one whose enthusiasm and personality counted toward the success of many of our enterprises. Two others who were formerly of our membership, Mrs. G. Irving Tuttle and Miss Edith F. Martin have also passed away.

No history of Unity Lend-a-Hand would be adequate without recognition of the debt which we owe the public. Truly we have been successful, but much of our prosperity has been due to the gifts of time, talent and money so generously contributed by strangers and friends who like the Lend-a-Hand spirit itself recognized no creed but responded, wholeheartedly, to human need. Literally, hundreds of people have helped our cause, and I wish that all could share with us the happiness of this celebration.

Sweet and fitting it is to call to mind past days and it is in this spirit that we have asked you to meet with us this afternoon.

In closing, what message have we who have borne the heat and burden of the day for those who must carry on our work. First a hearty welcome to the younger generation, a message of hope and good cheer, for that is what our motto means, and the thought that

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

BUILDING TRADE STRIKE.

What the old Col. Vanderbilt had to say about the general public seems to explain the present attitude of organized labor. Business of every kind has, with more or less of cheerfulness, pocketed the heavy losses incident to a trend toward normal conditions, which of course means some relief to the general public that for two years has staggered under the high cost of living. Why should organized labor not be willing to meet the situation in a manly way. To refuse to accept a fair reduction in wage scales, now that the cost of living has been noticeably cut, when it was the high cost of living alone that brought repeated increase in wages to its present high figure, does not seem to us like playing the game fair. Among the mill and factory operatives, the situation we have referred to seems to have been realized and the cut in wages accepted without a contest with mill owners over the matter.

Wage earners in the building trades just now seem to be blind to a real situation. However urgent may be the need for additional houses to provide places for increasing population, only under the most imperative compulsion will capital be invested in new dwellings. The same is true regarding structures to house business enterprises. In this attitude, capital has the endorsement of the general public. It was the attitude of people as a whole, that pulled down prices for food-stuffs and clothing, again illustrating what has been often said about the power of public opinion; and it is safe to assume that without the backing of this essential factor, the building trades will have to accept a reduction in wage scales on the basis of a general shrinkage from war-time standards.

The basis in all these matters is the purchasing power of the currency unit, with us the American dollar. It is patently unfair to demand a retention of a rate of wages equitable and fair when the dollar would purchase only fifty cents' worth of food, clothing or merchandise, when the dollar has increased in purchasing power to seventy-five cents.

But what might be said in reply to those who are now sharply criticizing their workmen for refusing to accept a reduction in wages. Simply this,—and it would be true in every respect,—we are doing what has been taught us by everything transpiring in the broad arena of general business for a long time. We are looking out for number one.

It is to be hoped that one of these days we shall all realize that in its largest sense there is no such thing as number one; that interdependence is universal; that with the body politic as with the human body, all the members suffer from the injury to a single part. Until then, humanity is bound to stumble along in the same old, blind way, ever paying the penalty because the lessons taught are ignored. Until then, men will continue to "be bond servants to whatever it yields obedience," instead of their own independent selves.

Certain combined commercial interests are working with people engaged in agriculture, to do away with daylight saving next summer. Any who enjoyed and profited by the larger daylight day last year and previously and desire this advantage to be continued should so inform the representative to the Legislature from this district. He would be glad to have definite knowledge as to the sentiment or feeling of his constituency. Write to him to-day.

So many cases of petty thieving have been called to the attention of District Attorney Nathan A. Tuffs of Middlesex County by farmers in the agricultural district throughout the county, and there have been so many calls for help on account of losses which farmers have suffered, which the district attorney has been unable to meet because there have been no men to take care of the work, that he has filed a bill in the General Court to provide for a division of the state police to take care of the agricultural districts. It is his idea to have a special force of police officers to be known as the agricultural police patrol, which shall be under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Safety, and whose duty shall be to patrol the agricultural districts and see that farmers get some protection for their property which is either now lacking entirely or utterly inadequate.

A report filed at the State House on Wednesday from the Attorney General's office makes sensational and serious charges against Dist. Atty. Nathan E. Tuffs, bringing to a focus evidences of friction between these two officials quite apparent in several recent court cases.

Due to help furnished by Boston as well as towns and cities nearer the scene, a conflagration in Worcester started in the early morning of Wednesday, was confined to a not large section of the business centre. The loss, however, was more than two million dollars. Many buildings at long distances from the central blaze were ignited by flying brands. It is also claimed that some of these were set by fire bugs who may have been responsible for starting the disaster.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

The First church, Unitarian, of Lexington, has in the past been the scene of many an interesting and important occasion, but none more so than that of Friday afternoon, Jan. 14th, when the Lexington Unity Lend-a-Hand celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary.

Invitations had been sent out to friends interested in Lend-a-Hand work, which included the members of the Lexington Senior Lend-a-Hand, the Lexington Branch of the Women's Alliance, and out of town friends, and a company that nearly filled the seating capacity of the vestry responded.

A half hour was devoted to a reception which was held in the ladies' parlor, and where the following ladies received: Mrs. Ellis W. Tower, first vice-president of the club in the absence of the first president, Mrs. Lyon Carter; Miss Clara W. Harrington, the founder of the Unity club; Miss Mary D. Hunt, its first president; Miss Amy E. Taylor, Mrs. Walter C. Ballard and Miss May S. Harrington, all charter members. Guests were presented by ushers, all of whom were past presidents. They were Mrs. H. B. Osgood (chief usher), Mrs. J. Chester Hutchinson, Mrs. Louis L. Crone, Mrs. Irving B. Pierce, Mrs. Edmund S. Kelley, Mrs. Charles F. Nourse, Mrs. Edwin B. Worthen. During the reception, musical selections were pleasingly rendered by a trio composed of Miss Ruth Prescott, violin; Miss Mildred Ridley, cello; Miss Mildred Vinton, pianist.

The formal exercises were opened by Mrs. Ellis W. Tower, who welcomed the company in a gracious manner and announced the program of the afternoon. This consisted of a selection by the trio, two groups of songs sung by Mrs. Annabelle Parker Wood, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Harold L. Frost; a word of greeting by Rev. John M. Wilson, minister of the First Parish; greetings from the Central Lend-a-Hand Society, brought by its superintendent, Miss Annie Brown; a letter expressing congratulations from the president of the Central society, Mr. Christopher Elliot; cello solo by Miss Ridley and a history of Unity Lend-a-Hand, written and read by Miss Amy E. Taylor, historian of the club and a selection by the trio.

The musical numbers added a good deal to the enjoyment of the occasion. The instrumental numbers were well chosen and finely given, while Mrs. Wood delighted her audience with her artistic rendering of her numbers.

Mr. Wilson was especially happy in his remarks, speaking in behalf of the parish and bringing greetings and words of congratulations for all the splendid things it has accomplished during the past twenty-five years. As Mr. Wilson said, the club had extended hospitality and aid to the colored schools, the Indians, and to all sorts of people and it might well symbolize in some way, all the invisible guests it has entertained during these past twenty-five years, thus recalling the recent dinner given in Boston for the Hoover Campaign fund. This club has always stood for the high ideals set forth by the beloved founder, Dr. Edward Everett Hale, which is practical Christianity and in closing Mr. Wilson expressed his hope that the club would continue to carry on.

Miss Brown also spoke of the invisible guests that had been entertained by the Lend-a-Hands during all these years since the first society was formed by Dr. Hale and in closing, the audience was asked to join in Dr. Hale's motto, known to every Lend-a-Hand member.

The gem of the afternoon was the historical paper by Miss Taylor. She was at her best and that every one interested may have an opportunity of reading this splendidly written paper, we print it in full.

At the close of the exercises the guests were invited to the banquet hall, where a tea and a social hour followed. The tea table was most attractively set with a beautiful silver tea service loaned by Miss May S. Harrington and further enhanced by baskets filled with primroses and ferns, and lighted candles. They were presided over by Mrs. Arthur

C. Whitney, Mrs. Alonzo E. Locke, members of the Women's Alliance; Mrs. W. W. Reed and Mrs. Frances E. Ballard, members of the Lexington Senior Lend-a-Hand. Frappe and fancy cakes were served from another handsomely appointed table with the same flower decorations. It was served by Mrs. Robert S. Sturtevant and Mrs. Edmund S. Kelley. The passers were members of the entertaining club. One interesting feature of the tea was the cutting of a beautifully frosted birthday cake with its twenty-five candles, presented to the Unity club from the Senior Lend-a-Hand. The charter members were also presented with a basket of sweet peas by the Unity Lend-a-Hand "baby," who is Dorothy Norris.

The tea committee was Mrs. Allen C. Smith chairman, Mrs. Raymond A. Bond and Mrs. Henry C. Davis, Jr. Mrs. H. L. Norris had charge of the decorations which she confined principally to the tables where the refreshments were served. There were also vases filled with pinks in the main vestry and the platform was furnished as a room, a portrait of Dr. Hale having a conspicuous place.

The affair was a delightful one, for it brought together those interested in a common cause and who for many years have been lending a hand. The celebration of the anniversary was arranged by the charter members, Miss Harrington chairman.

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS.

This week the Boston Y. M. C. A. celebrated its 69th anniversary.

The cold wave, with thermometer registering below zero, arrived as scheduled on Monday night.

The American Legion doubled in membership during 1920, by adding 3417 new posts in the twelve months.

President-elect Harding left his home at Marion, Ohio, Jan. 20, for a vacation period at St. Augustine, Fla.

The cost of living has been reduced a little over nine percent during the past six months, according to official figures filed last Monday.

Only two states, California and Rhode Island, pay a higher average rate to high school teachers than is the average in Massachusetts.

The emergency tariff bill, now under consideration in the U. S. Senate has been loaded with amendments which threaten to sink it.

Subscriptions to the Hoover fund in this state already reach a total of nearly three quarters of a million, with large sums being added daily.

Revised plans which will make the inauguration at Washington a simple affair on March 4, were approved by President-elect Harding on Monday.

Samuel Gompers was on Monday re-elected president of the Pan-American Federation of Labor at the Monday session of the Federation at Mexico City.

Senator Lodge has recovered from an illness confining him to his house for three weeks, and he was warmly greeted when he resumed his place on Monday.

All correspondents agree that Ex-Senator John W. Weeks will have a place in President Harding's Cabinet; but do not agree as to the assignment.

On discovery of a plot to obtain control in Germany, the Ex-Kaiser and the Crown Prince, with families, have been ordered to find refuge elsewhere than in Holland.

A decreasing deficit in income of Boston Elevated is not as yet enough to warrant any reduction in fares for a considerable time. So say the receivers in a report to the Legislature.

Soon after there is a change in administration at Washington, Gen. Clarence R. Edwards will receive recognition of the splendid service he rendered as commander of the 26th Division, so long denied him.

A report to the Legislature says that people in this state were swindled out of fifty million dollars last year by sellers of worthless securities. A bill to end this drain on savings of small investors is under consideration.

Strenuous objection to increasing congressional districts under the new census is likely to keep the number same as at present for the next ten years. The present membership of the U. S. House of Representatives is 435.

—Mr. E. A. Bean of 1445 Charlton street has been in the Massachusetts General Hospital for a minor operation which was successful.

—Miss Georgianna Whittemore and Mr. W. E. Leach of Brockton, were week-end guests of Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Leach at the parsonage.

—Thursday evening, Jan. 13, Mr. Joseph Edwards and Miss Laura Miller, both of Boston, were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mayo E. Morse, 1321 Massachusetts avenue. Rev. E. R. Leach performed the ceremony.

—The Junior league of the Methodist church are meeting at four o'clock on Sunday afternoons for lessons in preparation for church membership. On Sunday last Mr. Leach conducted a study of "The Life of Christ in the great works of art." Miss Stella Rolfe had charge of the lesson.

—Sunday afternoon the men of the Methodist parish called upon the people of the parish to secure their interest and attendance at the evangelistic services now being conducted at the Methodist church. The result was a large attendance, with several strangers present. Rev. Stanley High, who has travelled through Europe and China, assisting in the centenary survey, spoke at the morning service showing how the Christianity which is able to transform the Orient and rebuild Europe morally and religiously, is the same which it is being endeavored to bring to the people here, therefore it must succeed. It was a broad, inspiring address. These evangelistic services will be conducted through this month, members of the official board calling on the people of the parish each Sunday afternoon, to stimulate interest and attention in the services.

—At a pretty wedding in St. James' church on Appleton street, Miss Agnes J. Binnig, daughter of Mrs. Frieda Binnig, became the bride of Charles S. Smith, son of Mrs. Marcella Smith of New York, on Monday morning. The nuptial high mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. David R. Heffernan, who also performed the wedding ceremony. The altar was decorated with cut flowers in honor of the occasion. Miss Binnig was attended by her sister, Miss Frieda Binnig as maid of honor, and John J. Smith, brother of the groom, was best man. Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, 11 Brattle terrace, a reception to near relatives and friends following. The home was attractively decorated with palms and cut flowers, the dining room being specially inviting as set by the Hardy Catering Company. The bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe de chine, heavily embroidered and beaded and her veil of tulle was caught in place with a crown of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower of bride roses. The maid of honor wore a crepe de chine gown of henna shade, with a large picture hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on a honeymoon trip to Newport and Washington and on their return will make their home in New York.

—A large audience filled the auditorium of Park Avenue Congregational church, Monday evening, Jan. 17, the occasion being the second subscription concert. The attendance filled the seating capacity of the church despite the fact that the Lambert Murphy recital was being given in the Robbins Town Hall. The artists were the Pilgrim Male Quartette, with the following personnel, Robert Fitzgerald, tenor; Harold S. Tripp, second tenor; Percy F. Baker, baritone; Dr. George R. Clark, basso. Grace Higgs was the accompanist. Dorothy Berry Carpenter, reader, was the assisting artist. Every number was encored and as many of the selections were humorous the audience was in good humour throughout the evening. The program was as follows:—

March of the Gods, Geibel
Pilgrim Male Quartette.
The Unbidden Guest, Noyes
Dorothy Berry Carpenter.
Tenor solo. The Birds of the Wilderness, Horsman Harold S. Tripp.
Medley of Southern Songs, Pike
Pilgrim Male Quartette.
A model letter, Tarkington
Dorothy Berry Carpenter.
In the deep, cold sea, Petrie
Dr. George R. Clark, basso.
The Phantom Band, Thayer
Pilgrim Male Quartette.
Monologue, Miss Carpenter.
A summer lullaby, Gibson
Pilgrim Male Quartette.

—An oyster supper given at the Baptist church Tuesday evening, proved quite a success, and a goodly sum was realized therefrom. The committee was composed of Mrs. L. L. Goodwin, chairman; Mrs. J. W. Hovey, Mrs. S. Starbuck, Mrs. John Kenney, Mrs. F. Whippley, Mrs. A. T. Brown. "Great credit is due Mr. A. W. Freeman's class of young men who acted as waiters. During the evening aprons and fancy articles were on sale at a table in charge of Mrs. H. Michaels and Mrs. W. Hannah. An entertainment, including readings and songs by Miss Laura Brown, piano solos by Arline Story and Eleanor Maynard afforded much pleasure. It was followed by games for the young folks.

—The Sewing club met on Tuesday with Mrs. Norval Bacon, at her home on Appleton street.

—The Park Avenue Congregational Sunday school will hold an entertainment in the church on Friday, Feb. 11, at 7.30 in the evening.

—On Thursday the Woman's society of the Baptist church held a special sewing meeting to help with the Red Cross quota.

—Mr. and Mrs. James Hall Shedd announce the engagement of their daughter Marguerite to Mr. Theodore Perry Bell.

—In our report of the annual meeting of Park Avenue Congregational church given last week, it was stated that Mrs. Louis Webster was clerk of the church. It should have read Mrs. Blanch J. Webster.

—Mrs. Norman Hitchcock of 15 Bow street celebrated the fifth birthday anniversary of her daughter Bertha Wednesday afternoon, with a children's party, to which eight children were bidden. The home was prettily decorated with pink streamers and pink roses. A birthday cake, which was the principal feature, was much enjoyed served with ice cream and cookies. In the evening a dinner party was given with covers laid for sixteen. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Codier, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White of New York, Mr. and Mrs. George Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Balser, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Fowler.

—A good attendance greeted the two ex-pastors of the Baptist church last Sunday, Rev. P. W. Back had charge of the morning service and Rev. R. Neilson Muir the evening service. This church has been without a pastor since June. Never has a church been in such a good condition to greet a new pastor as at the present time. No debt, every organization in good working order and all due to the untiring efforts of the members who have taken hold of the work. The Sunday school is in fine condition under the direction of Mr. B. F. Craft, superintendent. One very helpful feature of the morning service is the male quartette, while the evening services are brightened under the musical director, Mr. Fred Warren. The parish looks forward to the new pastor, Rev. Reuben Davis of Salem, who begins his work next Sunday, Jan. 23. A warm welcome to all who are without a church home. Come and hear the new pastor.

—A most interesting and largely attended meeting was held by the Woman's Guild of Park Avenue Congregational church on Tuesday afternoon. After a short business meeting presided over by the president, Mrs. Luther Sherman, a talk was given by Mrs. C. F. Belcher of Malden, on "Impressions of a year in China." Mrs. Belcher is not a missionary, but visited her family, who live in China, spending a year with them. The beauty of the scenery of the country greatly impressed the speaker, but as is often the case in countries unenlightened by Christianity, the women's condition is far from pleasant. However, when the Chinese become Christianized, there are no kinder, more courteous gentlemen to be found the world over. Mrs. Belcher's talk was made doubly interesting by the exhibition of articles brought from China, including a pair of ladies' shoes, when it would be difficult to conceive of an American infant wearing they were so tiny; Chinese children's rain shoes; a woman's pipe; silver hair ornaments worn by servants and women coolies; beautifully embroidered linen pieces; a Mandarin's square embroidered in gold and silver threads. At the close of the meeting the refreshment committee, Mrs. Otto Johnson, chairman, served sandwiches of various kinds, candies, hot chocolate with whipped cream from a daintily decorated table, adorned with kewpies, and a prettily arranged basket of flowers.

MIDDLESEX SPORTSMAN'S NOTES.

Tuesday evening, Jan. 25, illustrated lecture on "Conservation of Wild Life in Massachusetts," by Chief Warden O. C. Bourne.

A mixed bowling tournament is being arranged under the direction of R. E. Ambrose, chairman of the committee on bowling.

The moving picture apparatus has been ordered and will soon be set up.

The "grocery store" in the basement, as "Brig." Young likes to have it called, is a popular rendezvous. Frequent lunches are held there by groups of members who "chip in" toward the expense.

The kitchen has received a number of donations in the way of cooking utensils. Roger Homer has given a splendid lot of aluminum ware. George Rice, "Brig." Young and others have also contributed. Further gifts will be welcomed.

The directors held a busy meeting recently. Various fish and game propositions were discussed and a report made by Messrs. Nevins and Hardy of the recent sportsmen's conference at the state house. A lot of new members were taken in.

"Joe" Longmore, who has been down East all the summer and fall, is home for a while but goes next week to Florida for the winter. He called at the club house Sunday for several hours to meet "the boys" and was delighted with the club house idea.

The marble game is still "going strong."

The Boy Scout officials are holding frequent meetings at the club house. Applications for membership are coming in fast.

A skating carnival is being talked up for an early date, as soon as the ice on the pond becomes suitable.

Secretary Mohr has recovered from his illness and is now frequently on deck at the club house.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES.

"What are these Girl Scouts, anyway?" asked a man on the train the other morning. The same evening, almost as if in answer, a Lexington mother was telling a friend of a recent experience in which the value of Girl Scout training had been so well demonstrated that her own girls are scheduled to be scouts when of the proper age; indeed, one has already become a Brownie. The demonstration to which this mother referred was the skillful and systematic way in which one of the scouts of Troop Two, who seemed to know just what to do in the emergency, organized and directed a band of searchers for the mother's young child who had wandered away among the woods and swamps in the neighborhood of the paint mine, but who was eventually found a mile and a half away headed for home as fast as her sturdy little legs could take her.

Formal invitations were mailed last week by the hostess class to the members of the council requesting the pleasure of their company at a dinner to be given at the Unitarian Parish House this Friday evening. This is in connection with the requirements for the hostess badge for which this group of scouts has been studying for some time under the direction of Mrs. S. Lewis Barbour.

State Director Miss Alice Sandford was greatly pleased to learn of the consignment of posters, charts and maps illustrative of Lexington scout activities shipped last week to the National Convention now being held at Cincinnati and which will materially add to the Massachusetts display.

Arrangements have been about completed for the examinations which will be held Wednesday afternoon, February 2nd, for the members of the classes who have been studying Home Nursing and First Aid under the guidance of Mrs. Franklin R. Kimball and Dr. Fred J. Piper respectively.

Commissioner Mrs. E. S. Emery and Deputy Commissioner Mrs. J. O. Tilton attended the luncheon given last week by Mrs. Jas. J. Storrow and which was held at the University Club instead of at Mrs. Storrow's own home as originally planned, owing to the large number of acceptances received.

It was a most inspiring occasion and our commissioners came away with renewed enthusiasm at the wonderful opportunities scouting offers in the way of being of help to our young girls, and allied with plans and suggestions which, if carried out, will mean much to all our Lexington Scouts.

*The A. T. C. club was entertained at supper Wednesday evening by Mrs. Frank Hadley of Amsden street.

*Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson, of 91 Everett street are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son born Jan. 13.

*The Ladies' Guild (Church of Our Saviour) met with Mrs. Ernest Southwick of Marathon street, Wednesday evening.

*Mrs. John Perkins of Brunswick, Me., is visiting her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar R. Heinrich of 7 Cleveland street.

*The Sewing club met with Mrs. Waterhouse in Waverly on Thursday afternoon. The members spent the time in sewing. Refreshments were served.

*Mrs. Perkins, of the Girls Friendly Society in Boston, will give a talk to the candidates' class of the Girls Friendly Society, Church of Our Saviour, next Thursday.

*Mrs. Maurice Sullivan of 36 Oxford street announces the engagement of her daughter, Agnes Cecelia, to Mr. Frank McCarthy of Commonwealth avenue, Allston.

*Mrs. Carl Whittier has returned to her home, 19 Egerton road, after a month's trip visiting relatives in Detroit, Mich., and Cleveland, Ohio. She also visited her old home in Akron, Ohio. Her many friends are delighted to welcome her back, as she has been missed in social and church activities.

*Mrs. Marguerite Mae Chase, of 45 Trowbridge street, and B. Franklin Booth, of Springfield, were quietly married last Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of Trinity Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. A. E. Kenyon officiating. Both were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Booth will make their home in Arlington.

*Dorothy Pierce, Louise Pierce, Ellen Rourke and Betty Rourke are deserving great credit for their valuable assistance to James Rourke, Eagle Scout in collecting forty-five Christmas trees in this section of the town for use by the Middlesex Sportsman's Association in building shelters for the ducks on Spy Pond.

*The Boston Post Office has established a sub-station at the store of George H. Cutler, 164 Mass. avenue, where anyone residing in the easterly section of Arlington who find it more convenient to do so, can mail letters, anything to go by parcel post, or buy stamps and postals. Letters and other postal matter will be delivered by carriers as heretofore.

*The Warren L. Teel class of Trinity Baptist church held a business meeting and social Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. T. B. Kinney on Windsor street. Plans for the coming year were discussed. Refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. T. B. Kinney, Miss Ethel Kinney, Miss Mabel Humphrey, Mrs. W. J. Hoeg, Mrs. John Lawson.

*The Y. P. S. C. E. of Trinity Baptist church gave a playlet, "Twenty minutes for refreshments," on Wednesday evening. The leading man, Lester Thorne, was supported by a splendid cast, including Edwin Hoeg, Lillian Foss, Annie Davis, Robert O'Donnell, Georgianna Fouquet, Argyle Abbott. Each one in the cast gave a clever, bright interpretation of his or her part and there was not one dull moment throughout the evening. In the intermissions a duet, "One fleeting hour," was rendered with ability by Miss Myrtle Hoeg and Mr. Edwin Hoeg. Candy was sold in charge of Miss Eleanor Tupper. There was a good attendance.

*An informal but delightful home musicale was given Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. P. Harrison, 14 Fairmont street, to which twenty-six guests had been bidden. Mrs. Harrison made a charming hostess, arranging a program which will long be remembered by those present. Vocal and piano duets were rendered with fine effect by Mrs. Ralph Ode and her sister, Mrs. Call of Somerville. Mrs. L. H. Watson, who does much solo work, gave violin selections, accompanied by Mrs. Ode. Mrs. Harrison gave much pleasure with a group of piano selections, followed by readings by Mrs. Jessica O'Brien, who enjoys a reputation as a reader and dancer. A social hour was enjoyed after the program, when sherbet and cake were served.

*The Adelphian Men's club of Trinity Baptist church gave a community supper at the church, Monday evening, Jan. 17, with one hundred and fifteen attending. At the head table were seated James W. Rourke, president of the Adelphian club; Judge John G. Brackett of Arlington; Rev. R. C. Ellsworth, pastor of Calvary Methodist church; Rev. W. N. Bixby, rector of Church of Our Saviour; Rev. A. E. Kenyon, pastor of Trinity Baptist church. The principal address of the evening was delivered by Judge Brackett, whose subject was "The Limited form of Town Government." It was a clear, thorough explanation of this form of government and appreciated by the men attending. Other speakers were Bernard R. Freeman, H. O. Staples, George A. Young, H. Warren Foss, Rev. A. E. Kenyon, Rev. R. C. Ellsworth, Rev. W. N. Bixby. James W. Rourke acted as toastmaster. Music was furnished by the Adelphian Quartette. Community singing was an enjoyable feature of the evening. The program was under the direction of Bernard R. Freeman, chairman of the Social Committee.

*John Hubner was elected president of the Community club of Arlington at the annual meeting of the club held in G. A. R. Hall Wednesday evening. The other officers elected were: Warren E. Lake, vice-president; Edward C. Hildreth, treasurer; and Stuart N. Hotelling, secretary. It was an interesting meeting for several reasons. Good natured rivalry developed for the offices of president and vice-president, and there was an excellent entertainment, awarding of the bowling prizes and a "hotdog" supper. The bowling prizes were handsome and something that would appeal to any man. Smoker's articles, neckties and thermos bottles were on the list. The Harlow team, by winning 46 games and losing 14, won the first prize. This team was made up of Goodman, Fowler, Noy, A. Pederson and Green. The Harlow team, made up of Bars, H. Macomber, Rowe and Cade won second place. The Raleigh team, made up of Clark, Thompson, Thayer, S. Fowle and G. Fowle won the high team total prize with 1,279. The Everett team, made up of Aylesbury, Lees, Cole and Lake won the high team single prize with 498. Cade of the Varnum team won the high individual average with 95. A. Pederson of the Harlow team won the high individual prize with 313 and Rogers of the Marathon team won the high single spring prize with 129. The club was entertained by Herbert Clark, the one-man show, who furnished a wonderful entertainment, the numbers being, black faces, memory stunts and story telling. When Mr. Clark closed his entertainment, all adjourned to the lower hall for the supper section of the program.

HUNNEWELL-WHITNEY.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harrie G. Whitney, 21 Bartlett avenue, Arlington, their older daughter, Miss Ruth Marietta, was married to Mr. Charles Frederick Hunnewell, of West Somerville, son of Mr. Charles H. H. Hunnewell, on the evening of Saturday, Jan. 14th. Seventy-five were present at the double wedding ceremony, which was at seven o'clock and was performed by Rev. A. Z. Conrade, D. D., pastor of Park Street church, Boston.

The house was beautifully decorated with the combining of pink roses, begonias and maiden hair fern. In the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, there was an arch made of the maiden hair fern and hanging down from either side, was a basket filled with roses.

The bride entered the room accompanied by her father, who gave her away. She was preceded by her attendants who included two little ring bearers, Wilmet and Elwood Boynton, cousins of the bride. They were in white sailor suits with long trousers and pink ties and scattered rose petals along the path of the bride. Four ribbon bearers made an aisle through which the bride walked. They were Miss Marietta Russell of West Medford, a cousin of the bride, who was in white georgette; Mrs. George Fowler, in blue georgette; Miss Helen Prince, in green taffeta and Miss Eleanor Welch in dark blue tulle over white satin. They all were from Arlington. The other attendant was Miss Bertha Stackpole of Clinton, as maid of honor. She wore an orchid colored satin and carried pink roses.

The bride was gowned in white charmeuse, with a long court train, beaded, and she wore a conventional veil of tulle, held in place with a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The best man was Douglas Pollard of West Somerville, and there were four ushers, H. Holland Whitney of Arlington, brother of the bride, and Ralph Armour, Raymond Davison and Lester Williams, all of West Somerville. Linton's orchestra played the wedding marches, and also throughout the reception which followed the wedding ceremony.

The reception was at eight o'clock and was attended by one hundred and fifty, this number including many friends from out of town, for the Whitneys have a large number of friends in lodge as well as social and church circles. The couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Whitney and Mr. Hunnewell. Mrs. Whitney wore a changeable blue and green charmeuse and carried dark red roses.

There were four generations of the Whitney family represented at the wedding.

Hardy Catering Company served refreshments in the dining room from a handsomely appointed table. The couple received quantities of lovely gifts, including a good deal of silver.

The couple had only a brief wedding trip, owing to Mr. Hunnewell's inability to be absent from his responsible position at this time. He is inspector of motor vehicles in the government service. He is a junior grade lieutenant in the U. S. Naval Aviation and will not be discharged until next fall. The bride is a graduate of the Quincy Mansion school, of Quincy, and of the Garland School for Home Making.

The bridal couple will live in Arlington for a time, and later will take an apartment at the corner of Lincoln and Summer streets, in Malden.

ARLINGTON LOCALS.

Many took a chance on last Sunday and skated on Spy Pond. The ice in many places was thin. In fact is thin yet and risky for skating purposes.

The second annual dance given by Arlington Gas Employees Association will be held in Robbins Memorial Town hall, Wednesday evening, February 2. Seaver's orchestra will play for the dancing.

Last Friday evening, during the heavy rain storm, two automobiles came together on Mass. avenue opposite Pleasant street, one machine being operated by Fred H. Whitten of Boston and the other by Edward B. Smalley of Winchester. The damage was slight.

Friday evening an automobile operated by A. A. King of West Medford and another machine operated by James Muench, also of West Medford, were in collision at the junction of Mystic street and Mass. avenue. Both machines were slightly damaged.

Last Friday evening two automobiles, one operated by Sherwood Hall, Jr., and the other by R. C. Drake, both residents of Winchester, collided at the junction of Mystic street and Mass. avenue. It was a rear-end collision and very little damage resulted.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Ross are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter, Madeline Virginia. The young lady was born at the Waltham Maternity Hospital on Jan. 8th, weight 7 pounds 12 ounces. Both parents were formerly of this town but now reside in Auburndale.

Mrs. Mary I. King, widow of Abraham King, died at the home of her son on Wednesday of last week. The funeral took place Friday morning from St. James church. Burial was in St. Paul's cemetery. Mrs. King was 75 years of age and had lived in Arlington for a great many years, making her home at the corner of Grove and Summer streets, where her husband, up to the time of his death, conducted a small farm. She has many friends in that neighborhood. She is survived by two sons and two daughters.

In last week's issue the Advocate announced that nearly one thousand dollars was contributed within a few days by citizens as a New Year's gift to the Arlington District Nursing Association. The growing demands upon the organization make it necessary to call upon the kindness of the people of Arlington twice a year.—In April for membership in the association at a dollar a year and at New Year's for any small gift. This enthusiastic answer to the New Year's call has caused the utmost satisfaction and gratitude on the part of the association, not only for the money, but for the possibility of increasing the purely charitable side of its work, and for the assurance that it has the appreciation and support of our community.

Two matches in the Union Church bowling league were scheduled for Jan. 12 on the Arlington Alleys, but only one match materialized, this being between the teams of the Arlington Heights Methodist Episcopal and the A. F. G. Brotherhood Heights Baptist. The other match was to have been with the First Baptist team and the Galahad club of St. John's Episcopal. The latter team did not show up, so First Baptist team claimed four points by forfeit. Rev. Edson R. Leach, captain of the Heights M. E. team was the high single three-string man with 298. The A. F. G. Brotherhood won three points but by only a small margin in two of the strings. The contest is now a close run between the Heights Baptist, First Baptist and Heights M. E. teams, the standing being in the order mentioned.

The highly rated Maynard basketball team visited this town on the evening of Jan. 13 and were shown how the game should be played, the Arlington team winning out 32 to 12. Coach Bradford E. Swift has a fine working machine and the men showed the result of his training and coaching. Team work was the feature of the evening and the local players had the visitors guessing all the way through the game. The visiting team was made up of old timers at the game, but their skill did not count against the fast home team. As usual the big center of Arlington, "Wing" McCarthy, was the big point maker for his team. His great heights and ability to shoot the baskets under adverse circumstances making his work good to watch. Ryan, Coughlin, J. McCarthy and the Geary brothers were the other point makers. From the outset of the game Arlington had the game well in hand, although the visitors made a noble try to come back in the last half, but could not cope with the speedy local team. The score was as follows:

The first half of the Community club of Arlington Bowling League series came to a close with the matches on the Arlington Alleys last Friday night. The Harlow team took the first honors and the Varnum team second honors. The rollers on the championship team have been Goodman, Fowler, Noy, A. Pederson and Green and on the team winning second place the rollers have been Barss, H. Macomber, Rowe, Hearsey and Cole. A Pederson of the championship team was also the champion high three-string roller with 318, the highest of the season. Cade of the Varnum team was the high individual average roller with an average of 95 for the season. When the contests ended Friday night, Rogers of the Marathon team and Sam Fowler of the Raleigh team, were tied for the season's high single string prize and a roll off was held, Rogers winning out by seven pins. The closing matches ended in Raleigh taking three points from the Marathons; Harlow taking three points from the Everetts; Trowbridge taking three points from the Varnums.

The Daughters of Isabella bowling league had a lively session on the Arlington Alleys, Thursday evening of last week. Mrs. Ada Savage being the high three-string roller with 238 and Miss Lucy Neelan winning the high single with 91.

A mass meeting was held in Knights of Columbus Hall under the auspices of John Hancock Council of the A. A. R. I. R. The meeting was well attended and the speakers were Martin Hunt of Washington University and James R. Hayes of Charlestown.

Last Sunday afternoon the degree team of Arlington Council, Knights of Columbus, visited Woburn Council and conferred the second degree on a class of forty-five men. The work was exemplified by Edward A. Geary, G. K.; John A. Bishop, inquisitor; William Keefe, chancellor.

Sunday night William F. Driscoll of 100 Decatur street lost control of his automobile and ran onto the sidewalk at the junction of Tufts and Warren streets, striking a telephone pole and damaging the machine quite a little. Driscoll was badly cut with flying glass and was taken to the Symmes Arlington Hospital in the police ambulance.

Mrs. Frederick A. Campbell (Hazel Cushing Burgess) of 308 Mystic street, who recently resigned as president of the G. and B. club, gave a dinner Wednesday evening at her home, to ten members of the club in honor of Miss Helen M. Graham of Jamaica Plain. Mrs. Campbell was assisted in receiving the guests by her charming and talented sister, Miss Elsie M. Campbell, a next year's debutante.

Patrolman Charles E. Carroll had a "roundup" all of his own on Sunday night, trying to catch a pig that had escaped from the pen. The story started with a call to the police from a resident of Clark street, stating that there was a pig wandering around the neighborhood. Carroll was sent on the job and after a few wild west moves he finally cornered the porker and had it put in captivity until the owner arrived.

Sunday afternoon Ferdinand Pelz of Saugus was driving his automobile up Mass. avenue and when an electric car stopped at Mount Vernon street, he swung to the left of the car to go past, meeting an inward bound car head on. The fact that the motorman of the inward bound car had slowed up to pass the standing car, saved Pelz from being badly hurt. The machine was damaged some, but the occupants escaped with but a shaking up.

Adams and Patterson met their first defeat as bowling partners when they took on Whalen and Gangi, Thursday evening of last week on the Arlington Alleys. The match was anticipated by fans for some time and the alleys were crowded with those wishing to witness the contest. Gangi showed up well in one of his strings, rolling 152. He rolled a total of 1079 for ten strings, and Whalen rolled a total of 1035. Adams rolled 1002 and Patterson 965, the latter getting many bad breaks in his ten strings.

The annual meeting of the Catholic club of Arlington Heights was held in the club house, Thursday evening of last week, with a very good number attending. The officers chosen for the coming year were: Richard Powers, president; Robert J. White, Jr., vice-president; John Fermoy, treasurer; John A. MacNeil, secretary; and William J. Furdon, financial secretary. Plans were talked over after these officers had been inducted into office. The plans proposed are carried out the club will have a very busy season. The first on the program will be a ladies' night, the latter part of this month.

The winter meeting of the Bay State Historical League, held with the New England Historic Genealogical society, 9 Ashburton place, Boston, on Saturday last, was most interesting. Several members of the Arlington Historical society attended among which were Judge James P. Parmenter, Mr. Charles A. Hardy, Mrs. H. H. Homer and Mrs. Charles Jacobs. Mr. Walter K. Watkins, secretary of the Bay State Historical League, in discussing the preservation of the old houses called the names of different New England towns and cities. Mr. Hardy responded for Arlington giving a brief but interesting account of the Jason Russell house.

The annual meeting of the Universalist church occurred Thursday evening of last week in the vestry, preceded by a supper in charge of a committee, chairmaned by Mrs. Lucian W. Mead. Mr. E. W. Goodwin presided over the business meeting, when reports by the secretaries of the various organizations were presented. These reports showed that the church has been strengthened and a general spiritual uplift received during the past year. That the present pastor, Rev. William H. Gould, is the right man for this parish, was evidenced by the unanimous vote to retain him as pastor as well as the vote to make a substantial increase in his salary. The officers for 1921 were elected as follows:— Trustees, Mr. E. W. Goodwin, president; James F. Younie, clerk; Irving D. Dawes, treasurer; Lucian W. Mead, collector; Mr. J. O. Holt, Mr. Francis B. WITHOUT NAILS OR RIVETS

New Scientific Method of Shipbuilding Seen in Construction of Vessel at Liverpool.

Can you imagine a ship without a nail or rivet in all its hull? Do you recollect the visit to the shipyards and the army of men nailing huge timbers to the skeleton frame of a ship? And, over in the next yard, the swarm of men hammering the white hot rivets in the great plates of a battleship? One's imagination is stretched considerably to conjure a method by which all these workmen may have their toil reduced or eliminated. Yet this is today's development in the science of shipbuilding. The steamship Fullagar has just slid down the Liverpool ways without a nail or rivet in its hull. From stem to stern the plates are electrically welded. The Fullagar is an oil driven cargo steamer of 500 tons. She is now undergoing final tests. Experts declare that she will not only stand all the tests required, but her success as an ocean carrier will revolutionize shipping. We may now calculate what a boon the electrical welding process will be if great armies of men have to be transported on the "bridge across the seas." Not only does this method release man power for other tasks, but it enables shipyards to turn out mighty steel ships within a short space of time.

COULD USE TOMATO SEEDS

Department of Agriculture Points Out How They May Be Made a Source of Revenue.

That much valuable material is being wasted annually by throwing away tomato seeds extracted in pulping soup, catsup and canning plants is indicated by investigations made by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Department investigators have found that more than one thousand tons of seed are thrown away annually in northern tomato-pulping plants, with large enough output of seed to pay for shipping, and that they may be made into edible oil and stock food worth about $85,000 (December, 1919). Cost of collecting and preparing the seed is estimated at about $35,000, including all proper charges, and the cost of the necessary equipment is given at not to exceed $50,000.

In addition the same plant, which would run not more than five months in the year, could be used for the handling of grape seeds and pumpkin seeds, which would distribute the overhead and cut down the cost of manufacture of the tomato-seed products.

Cavalrymen's Splendid Ride.

Col. Ezra B. Fuller, the author of a riding "anthology," has himself a notable achievement of endurance and horsemanship to his credit. During the Nez Perce campaign of 1877 Fuller, then second lieutenant of the Seventh cavalry, stationed on the north bank of the Yellowstone river, near Miles City, was ordered by General Miles to take five troopers with him and carry dispatches to General Sherman at Fort Ellis, Mont. Much of the trip had to be made running alongside of the horses, owing to the mountainous character of the country traversed and the almost impassable condition of the trails. The total distance covered was over 350 miles, which was made in four days and nineteen hours, without changing mounts.

The Domestic Optimist at Work.

"My husband has never spoken a cross word to me."
"Daughter is always at the head of her class, and she doesn't have to study a bit hard. She really seems to have more time to play than any of the other girls."
"I'm so glad you came, I assure you. One extra for dinner doesn't matter."
"So glad you called? I didn't care to go to the matinee, anyway."
"My husband could get a much larger salary by going with another house—in fact they are begging him to do it—but his present employers have treated him so nicely that he just won't leave them."
"Never mind breaking the case—it was not one that I cared especially for."—From Life.

Women are like Cats.

Women are like cats. If you move toward them they run away. But if you sit there and say "Puss, puss, puss," and put a saucer of milk on the floor, in due course they will be moved by curiosity to come and see what there is in the saucer. Then, click! you've got the cat by the back of the neck so that it can't scratch you. When the cat has struggled enough and discovered that it can't get away, and been tickled behind the ear, she'll sit on your lap and purr. And then, ah, then, you no longer need to say, "Puss, puss, puss!" You can say, "You damn cat," and she'll go on sitting there, purring.—From "Caliban" by W. L. George.

For Launching Lifeboats. Safely.

The hurried launching of lifeboats from disabled vessels is usually attended by confusion and danger. An Eastern shipyard worker has devised a new method of lowering the boats that carries them forty feet away from the ship's side, lays them on an even keel, and gives them a forward impulse. The small boat, instead of hanging in davits, rests in a cradle supported by three parallel inclined arms, which are pivoted near the water line and guyed by cables attached above.

POST 39, AMERICAN LEGION, of Arlington.

We are indebted to Frank A. Sibley of Boston Daily Globe, for an interesting resume of the first year in the life of Post 39. Arlington has reason to be proud of Post 39, not only because of the record made by members when over seas, but fully as well the manly way its affairs have been conducted. We print Mr. Sibley's story in full as follows:—

"A year ago last June five men of Arlington issued a call to all the men of the service whose names they knew, to meet and form the nucleus of a Legion post. These men were Louis Ross, Arthur Pierce, William Scannell, John Colbert and Thomas Carens.

Sixty men came to the first meeting, and a temporary organization was made. The application for a charter was sent in, but as it happened, reached headquarters just a few hours after Lexington had applied. The consequence—than which, as Bunker Bean was wont to observe, nothing could be of less consequence—was that Lexington post was numbered 38 and Arlington 39.

It was typical of Arlington to have the luck go that way. She had no National Guard of her own, and Arlington boys in the old days enlisted in the Cambridge, Somerville and Charlestown companies, for the most part.

In the war a lot of boys went into the 76th Division, most of them getting into the 301st Artillery. But the town made a mighty proud record, sending 960 of her sons into the great conflict, 26 per cent. of them into the navy. A most graceful and unusual flagstaff, surmounted by a statuette of Liberty, commemorates their service today.

Arlington Post flourished from the beginning. John Colbert, one of the organizers, was tireless in his efforts to get the boys together before they lost touch with each other. "Tommy" Carens, well known as a hustling newspaperman, kept the enthusiasm at the boiling point, and the other three men all did their share toward getting the post on its way.

Today it has 575 paid-in members, and is after the remainder of the 960. Of course, some of the boys have moved away, and some of them never got back.

For the present Arlington Post has headquarters in the old Arlington Town Hall, close by the railroad crossing. It plans to have quarters in Adelphi Hall next, in the Associates' Building.

This will not be the final home of the post, however, for it has already $12,000 in cash in the bank and as much more pledged toward its building fund. This huge sum was the result of a building fund campaign which was opened April 20 of last year.

The post's stand of colors was given to it by the banks of the town, Gen. McCain coming down from Camp Devens to make the presentation.

Arlington Post has given monthly social affairs ever since its inception. It has had two military balls and has presented "Under Fire," a play by Roy McKue, who wrote "Honors Are Even." It had a cast of more than 70 people, and was an immense success. Arlington Post has not yet tried to run any outdoor affairs.

John A. Colbert, one of the organizers, was the first temporary chairman of the post, and became its first commander. He was re-elected for the year 1920, and went out of office last Wednesday. The occasion was made notable for him by the presentation of a beautiful solid gold glion badge, signifying that he has been a commander of the post.

Mr. Colbert is studying in foreign trade at Boston University, specializing on France, to which country he hopes to return. It was typical of Colbert to go to school to learn his business; when he enlisted for the war, he did the same thing, going to Fort Ethan Allen to study in the sergeant major's school there in August, 1917.

In October he went across as a casual and was sent directly to the division headquarters of the 26th at Neufchateau. He didn't stay there long, however, his next post being at Dijon.

Feb. 18, 1918, he was hurt in an accident, and when he recovered was found to be disabled for active service in the line. He was made company clerk of Bakery Co. 305, at Dijon, the outfit that baked the bread for combat divisions.

This service continued until the day after Thanksgiving, when he had to go on to the table for an operation, and he didn't get home until March, 1919. He entered Boston University, and helped form the Carry On club—which is composed of disabled men—there, becoming its president.

The first adjutant of the post was John L. O'Brien. He was in the motor transport in the army, and is now in the electrical supply business. The adjutant in 1920 was a Yankee Division boy, William Carroll. He was in that cavalry troop which became the headquarters troop of the 26th, and served all through with that trying and lively bunch.

The present adjutant is Richard F. Nixon. He was in the Coast Artillery before the war, and naturally stayed with his favorite heavy guns during the conflict. In the post he has made a mark as a clever actor, and has been extremely popular, not only among his comrades, but in the town.

Herbert F. White, the new commander, was in the photographic section of the aero service with the pleasant job of taking photographs of the enemy positions and being a target at the same time. He is now in the photographic supply business in Boston.

Thomas H. Carens, who was secretary to Gen. McCain at Camp Devens for two years, was the post's first historian. He has turned the job over this year, being much away from Boston, to Chester Philpott, the son of A. G. Philpott of the Boston Globe.

Mr. Philpott was one of the early experimenters with wireless telegraphy and found himself a wireless operator on one of the sub-chasers in the war. He went across the Atlantic in his little craft and then was sent in her to the West Indies, through the canal and into the Pacific. He is still in the wireless telegraph business in Boston. He is also a musician, playing several musical instruments, among them the saxophone.

The post has a Distinguished Service Cross man in Frank M. Harwood, who went across with the 26th Division and came home with the 2d. He was a dispatch rider and got a nasty wound. He was decorated at Camp Devens after his return.

George H. Lowe wears the French Cross. He was in the American Ambulance Corps, and was wounded. Indeed, he has been playing end on Jim Thorpe's semipro football team in Canton, O., with a piece of shrapnel still in his lung.

George L. Cross also wears the Croix de Guerre. He went over as captain of C Company in the 101st Engineers, but was grabbed by General Headquarters at Chaumont, where he became a major. When he got home he was made a lieutenant colonel and served with Adj. Gen. Jesse Stevens at the State House. He has now gone back into the army, with the rank of captain, and is serving at Camp Devens.

BOY SCOUT DOINGS.

Troop 1.

At the regular meeting Friday night, junior and senior basketball teams were organized and practice begun. Scout Master Forbes presented Merit Badges for swimming and firemanship to Davis Hardy; for Bird Study to Parker Rice. Richard J. Davis read some interesting letters he had received from scouts living in lighthouses along the Massachusetts coast, and told of his plans to correspond with young Indians out west. On Monday afternoon the Troop toted 100 more Christmas trees to the Middlesex Sportsman's Association for use in making shelters for the ducks on Spy Pond.

Troop 5.

At the meeting of Troop 5 Wednesday night, a wireless club was formed under direction of Harold Batchelder of Arlington Heights, an expert operator. An aero club was also started, the members of which will build model aeroplanes and fly them. Scout Master Walter E. Whitten is also busy on plans for an athletic club.

Troop 6.

On Thursday evening, Jan. 13, Troop 6 went to Winchester, where it was entertained by Troop 1 of Winchester. Basketball matches were played between the senior and junior teams, and while Winchester won decisively, owing to their greater experience, Arlington was not cast down, as it was their first match. The senior game resulted in a win for Winchester, 54 to 1; the Junior game, 19 to 1. The senior teams lined up as follows: Arlington—Chamberlin c, Lewis f, Le Casse f, Brown g, and Aherne g. Winchester—Sherman c, Gray f, Riddle f, Kelley g, and McNelly g. The Junior line-up: Arlington—C. Merrill c, Winn f, Michaelson f, Taft g, Welch g, and Beals sub. Winchester—Herne c, Clifton f, Harraird f, White g and Taylor g. The Winchester boys made delightful hosts and the Arlington teams had a splendid time. The next regular meeting, Wednesday, will be inspection night.

Troop 7.

Troop 7 met Monday night in St. Agnes school, and after the regular routine instruction and drilling, Scouts Edward, Picone and Joseph Kelly gave an exhibition signal drill with flags. The Rev. J. B. Mullin talked to the troop on a Good Turn Day, and the troop was inspected by Michael F. Lane of the executive board. Scout Master Daley is arranging for senior and junior basketball matches with Troop 1 of Winchester. He also hopes to obtain the use of the High School hall on Tuesday nights.

Troop 8.

Friday night, Jan. 14, Troop 8 was organized in St. Agnes school hall, with 24 enthusiastic boys. Alexander McLean was made Scout Master. The Rev. J. B. Mullin of the executive board gave the boys a talk on the duties and work of scouts and then the scout books were given out for the boys to read and study. It is expected that the troop will be filled before many days have passed.

short story contest. Thursday morning at the High school. He congratulated them on receiving two certificates of Distinction and seven of Honorable Mention. He then pointed out the principal faults in the stories submitted to him. Mr. Rugg is also to talk on newspaper work to the Belfry Club of the Pleasant street Congregational church, Wednesday evening, Feb. 2.

It has been wonderful skating this week on Spy pond. The beautiful moon-lit sky has added a good deal to the pleasure of the evening skaters.

The members of the local police department have subscribed fifty dollars toward the fund being raised for the widow of Thomas J. Riley, a member of the Cambridge police force who lost his life while in the performance of his duty.

A very successful charity whist was given at the home of Mrs. E. S. Seasey, 61 Bartlett avenue, Thursday afternoon. Readings by Mrs. Velma Bailey Hicks were enjoyed, as were vocal solos by Mrs. Marion Kingsbury of Brookline. Refreshments were served. One hundred and fifty were present.

The Unitarian churches of this country and Canada will observe next Sunday as Young People's Day. The local church participated in the observance and Dr. Gill has prepared both service and sermon accordingly. The public, especially young people, are invited. Organ Voluntary, 10.30, opening hymn, 10.40.

The Mass. Aggie hockey team gave the Harvard varsity team a tough battle at the Arena, Wednesday evening. The Aggie team looked like a lineup of the Arlington High school alumni. Lyons, Collins, Mansell and McCarthy, all Arlington boys who are making good at the college, both at studies and athletics. A large delegation went to the game from Arlington.

The eighth set in the series of forty-five games for the championship of the town were played in Hibernian Hall on Chestnut street Wednesday evening. The A. O. H. players again taking the lead from the K. of C. teams. The A. O. H. won 55 games, making their total to date 416. K. of C. won 54 games, making their total 413. The Elks won 41 games, making their total 371.

Edward H. Kittredge, advertising manager of the Old Colony Trust Company and who resides at 10 Devoreux street, Arlington, delivered an address Tuesday afternoon before the Pilgrim Publicity Association. In his address he spoke of the ignorance of New Englanders about the great industrial achievements of modern New England, which he said was responsible for the widespread feeling that this section is a repository of historical remains instead of a mighty centre of commerce and industry, as it really is.

Capt. James Barrett, council of the A. A. R. I. R. was formed at a meeting held in St. James club house on Acton street, Wednesday evening. The meeting was for the sole purpose of forming the local branch. Dr. J. Gallagher was elected president; William J. Furdon, vice-president; Mrs. Thomas Silvery, recording secretary; Miss Alice G. Dacey, financial secretary; Dr. Dechan treasurer, and Joseph Murphy orator. Plans were made for the season and a drive for members. A mass meeting with the members of John Hancock Council at an early date was talked over. Rev. Fr. Meenan to be the speaker of the evening.

Rev. Edson R. Leach, captain of the Arlington Heights Methodist Episcopal church bowling team, once more won the honors in the Union Church Bowling League series, when on Wednesday night he was the high three-string roller of the evening with 300. Rev. Mr. Leach is the top notcher of this league at holding the honors, and is one of the best bowlers in the entire league. The match was with the team representing Calvary M. E. church and pushed the Heights church team a little closer to the top of the league. The Heights team had no difficulty in taking all four of the points, rolling a total of 1,316 against 1,187 at the opposing team.

Mrs. Fred M. Chase was hostess at a masquerade party given in celebration of her birthday anniversary, Wednesday evening, at her home, 743 Massachusetts avenue. Mrs. Edwin Cochrane of New York was the honor guest. The spacious living room, which is particularly adapted to dancing, was attractively decorated with palms and cut flowers. The guests attended in costumes varied and resplendent, which gave a brilliant coloring to the affair. Mr. Heller, pianist, of Reed and Heller's orchestra, furnished the music for dancing. The Hardy Catering Co. catered, serving a delicious supper. The guests, numbering twenty-five, attended from New York, Brookline, Winchester and Arlington.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Emery Rawson, who passed away Jan. 12, was held last Saturday afternoon, at 2.30, at the home of her son, Mr. Herbert W. Rawson, 285 Broadway, where the deceased has resided since the death of her husband, Mr. Warren W. Rawson, which occurred in 1908. The devotional services were conducted by Dr. Frederic Gill, minister of the First Parish Unitarian church of which church the late Mr. Rawson was an influential member during the latter years of his life. Beautiful selections were sung by two members of the Pilgrim Male Quartette. There was a gathering of long-time friends and relatives who filled the rooms, coming to show their respect to this Christian woman who through many years of invalidism, has borne her infirmities with great patience. The interment was in the family lot in Mt. Pleasant cemetery. Mrs. Rawson was the daughter of Peter and Sophronia Mair. She was a native of the North End, Boston, but has lived in Arlington for fifty years, where her husband was one of our leading citizens until his death. Mrs. Rawson had a shock a week before her death that rendered her unconscious and from which she never rallied.

Mrs. Harold Rice gave a bridge party this Friday afternoon, at her attractive home on Lakeview, to a small group of friends.

Monday evening the members of the Medford Boat club held a bowling match on the Arlington Alleys, the event being a sort of tryout for a team.

The Arlington Heights Tennis club will give its second dancing party of the season at the Town hall, Monday evening, Feb. 21. This will be a Washington's birthday dance, with special features.

"The Doris Peale Trio" of this town charmed an audience at the Danvers Woman's club on Tuesday afternoon, at which Flavel Shurtlett of Winchester was the speaker. The trio is made up of Miss Doris Peale, cello; Miss Helen Doty, violin, and Miss Evelyn Chamberlain, piano.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hatch entertained Hop, Arthur Lord at dinner at their home on Pelham terrace, Thursday evening after his lecture delivered that afternoon before the Arlington Woman's club, on the subject, "Plymouth and the Pilgrims." Mr. Lord is a long time friend of the Hatch family.

Among those at tables at the Hoover dinner, last Thursday evening, were Mr. W. Forbes Robertson and Miss Helen G. Robertson, who were the guests of the Misses Sears, of Mt. Vernon street, Boston. Mr. Robertson was a member of the European Children's Campaign Committee.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's parish will be held next Monday afternoon, Jan. 25th, at 2.30, in the parish house No. 74 Pleasant street. Annual reports, election of officers, opening of white boxes; also an address by Miss Josephine Bennstead on the work in Latin America. To be followed by a social hour.

Monday evening Miss May Robinson of 78 Franklin street was injured about the hip and left arm when the automobile in which she was riding tipped over on Medford street, near the entrance to the boulevard. The "wishbone" of the automobile snapped and this caused the accident. Miss Robinson was taken to her home for treatment.

Communication from the dead to the living was the phrase of psychic research covered in Mr. Harold B. Wood's lecture on Tuesday evening at Sharon. He spoke before the Men's Associations of the Congregational and Baptist churches. Following the lecture questions were asked and answered. The address was well received and the meeting proved very interesting.

The annual meeting of the Arlington Police Relief Association was held at headquarters on Monday afternoon, when the following were elected to serve during the coming year: Thomas M. Donovan, president; Daniel P. Barry, vice-president; Lieut. Daniel M. Hooley, secretary; E. C. Jacobs, treasurer; George E. Moore, William P. Mahoney, T. Arthur Nolan, F. Joseph Cahalin, directors; Chief Thomas O. D. Urquhart, Thomas F. Priest and Frederick M. Kirlin, auditors.

In the Amateur Boston Pin League the Middlesex Sportsman's Association team is still on the top of the list, with a fairly safe margin. Monday night the second team in the league, Colonial, rolled here and took one out of four. The match was an interesting one, the local club team showing a great come back in the last string, when they had a lead of thirty pins to overcome and win the string. Baker, with 370, was the high man of the evening with Pyatt second with 335.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Thompson of Pleasant street entertained Mr. Lambert Murphy and his accompanist, Mr. Charles Baker, at dinner on Monday evening, previous to the concert in Town Hall given by Mr. Murphy, under the direction of the Teachers club. After the concert a group of Mr. Murphy's friends as well as those of the Thompsons, from Boston, Brookline and Medford, were entertained at the Thompson's residence to meet Mr. Murphy, who is a long-time friend of the Thompsons.

Capt. Daniel J. (Buck) Sullivan is at the Corey Hill Hospital, where he is recovering from the effects of a very serious operation. Capt. Sullivan has been with the fire department for many years and is the only permanent captain in the fire fighting force. He is attached to the "Highland" station. Throughout Greater Boston there probably is no better known fireman than "Buck" Sullivan. He has always made it a hobby to visit other fire stations during his time off and has become well known. His many friends here and elsewhere wish him a speedy recovery and return to his home station.

An exciting bowling match was rolled on the Arlington Alleys, Monday night, the contestants being Clark and Sacco against Eddy and Mahoney. The match was a seesaw all the way through, the leadership changing many times during the ten strings, so that the fans who watched the contest had plenty of exciting moments. Clark rolled 969, and Sacco 1,045, making a team total of 2,014. Eddy rolled 1,007 and Mahoney 1,000 for a total of 2,007. At the close of the match the winners were challenged to a special ten string match by Adams and Patterson.

Walter John Schuhmacher of 931 Massachusetts avenue passed away Tuesday night, at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary after an illness of three months' duration. He was the son of Mrs. Marie and the late Henry Schuhmacher and had lived in Arlington all his life. He was a quiet, home-loving man, with a wide circle of friends who will sadly miss his kind, genial friendship. During his confinement at the hospital his patient endurance of suffering endeared him to all. His many friends lightened the tedious days of illness with a profusion of beautiful flowers, fruit and delicacies. Mr. Schuhmacher is survived by his wife, Anna E. Horne Schuhmacher, a son, Walter, his mother and sister, Marie, are at present residing in California, and will be unable to attend the funeral which will take place Saturday afternoon at his late residence, 931 Massachusetts avenue. Mr. Samuel Jackson of the Plymouth Brethren Sect will conduct the funeral services. Interment will be in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Besides the regular sewing meeting of the Social Alliance, First Parish Unitarian church to be held Monday afternoon, Jan. 24, at 2 o'clock, the Alliance will have an all-day sewing meeting Tuesday, Jan. 25, to complete work for the Red Cross quota.

The Arlington Police Social Club held its annual meeting Monday afternoon in Headquarters, electing Felix Lopez, president; William P. Mahoney, vice-president; Daniel P. Barry, treasurer; Theodore R. Belya, secretary; Charles E. Carroll, F. Joseph Cahalin and Felix Lopez, executive board.

Tuesday evening on the Arlington Alleys the opening match of a five store league of the employees of the Walter K. Hutchinson Company was rolled, the men of the Arlington store, Goodwin, Lee, Percy, Peace and Hayes taking all four strings from the Back Bay store men. Arlington rolled 1,663 against 1,581 by the Boston men, every man on the Arlington team rolling over 300.

On page seven will be found a very interesting story relative to Arlington Post of the American Legion. In addition to the names appearing in this article of those of the post who won honors the following should be added: Charles E. Daley, who was a second lieutenant in Co. B, 4th Machine Gun Battalion, 2nd Division, who wears a croix de guerre; Stephen M. Richardson, who also served in the second division, and wears a croix de guerre; Arthur M. Dallin, who was a lieutenant in the French Army, having been rejected for physical disability by the United States Army examiners. Mr. Dallin won a croix de guerre and a regimental citation.

Announcement had been made by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Long of 23 Oakland avenue, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Bertha L. Long to Jeremiah A. Crowley, also of Arlington. Miss Long, who is a graduate of Lowell Normal School, 1917, and who taught for three years in the Crosby School, is now successfully directly the girls' continuation school in Ware, Mass. Mr. Crowley, who served as 1st lieutenant in the American Aviation service during the war, leaves for Italy next month as representative of a Commercial Aeroplane Co. No date has yet been set for the wedding.

Officers and members of James Ray Cole Lodge, K. of P., with guests, had a most interesting and enjoyable time last week Thursday. The lodge has a regular meeting place in Odd Fellows Hall in Associates' building, where there is accommodation for a large company. It was installation night, Deputy Grand Chancellor Mo. z being the installing officer, and he won high praise for the manner in which he filled the office. He was also felicitous in presenting a past chancellor's jewel to the retiring chancellor, Ivers L. Wetherbee. During the oversight of the Deputy Grand, this lodge has gained one hundred present in membership. Following the installation there was a very pleasing entertainment, including orchestra selections, several readers, magician and short address by S. R. Harlam, P. Knight, on "Patriotism." Interesting remarks were also made by G. M. of E. Wm. F. Beaman. After the entertainment the floor was cleared and dancing was enjoyed.

The annual meeting of the Orthodox Congregational society in Arlington was held in the ladies' parlor of the church, last Monday evening, with an attendance well filling the room. Perhaps the excellent supper, served at 6.30, was in a way responsible for the general attendance of members. Clerk Hilliard called the meeting to order at eight o'clock, and it organized with Dea. Myron Taylor as moderator. The report of Treasurer F. B. Thompson showed a considerable increase in receipts over last year, in fact more than any previous year, and a balance in the treasury. W. E. Hardy reported for the standing committee, reciting the routine affairs, with details about refitting the parsonage for the newly installed pastor. The committee chosen at the last meeting of the society to consider and report on the advisability of society and church uniting in a single incorporated body to carry on all the activities of the two organizations, made a report unanimously in favor of such a union. The report was discussed at some length and finally disposed of by the appointing of a committee of seven to confer with a committee of the church already engaged in preparing articles of incorporation to be presented to the church for action. The findings of this joint committee will be presented at a meeting of the society, called by the standing committee when the full report has been prepared. In view of what is likely to take place in the not distant future, namely the forming of a single corporate body, and as officers hold over until successors are chosen, articles relating to election of officers were laid on the table. The conference committee named consists of William A. Muller, Howard W. Spurr, Edward N. Lacey, William E. Hardy, R. Walter Hilliard, Frederick B. Thompson, C. S. Parker. The meeting stands adjourned to Monday evening, February 7, at 8 o'clock.

By losing four points to the A. F. G. Brotherhood team of the Arlington Heights Baptist church, the First Baptist church team went into fourth place, Tuesday evening, in the match rolled on the Arlington Alleys in the Union Church Bowling League series. The battle was a stiff one, these two teams having had quite a contest for the first place in the league. The First Baptist team held this honor for some few weeks until the Heights men took it last week. Naturally the contest was viewed with interest among the men of both churches and there were many on hand to root for both teams. The Heights men won the first string by seven pins, the second string by thirty-one pins and the last string by ten pins, rolling a total of 1,306 against 1,258 by the First Baptist men. Another match was rolled on that evening by the Adelphian club and Young Men's class of Trinity Baptist church, the former winning three out of four points.

The annual meeting of Orthodox Congregational church in Arlington will be held on the evening of Friday, Jan. 28, in the Sunday school room of the church. The business meeting will be preceded by a supper to be served at 6.30 o'clock. There will be the annual roll call, routine business, etc., with doubtless a report from the committee chosen some weeks ago to draw up a form of church incorporation, by-laws by which it shall be governed, with a list of officers to take charge of financial as well as church affairs, in the event of a union of society, and church being deemed desirable. Business of such vital importance should command the attendance of all members not detained by sickness or other equally good excuse.

The high school basketball team went to Watertown on Tuesday evening and got defeated 58 to 8. The Watertown team was one of veterans and they had the upper hand all the way through the game. Arlington making a rather poor showing against them. Arlington got but one lone basket during the game, the other six points being made on fouls. The score:

Daniel M. Daley was given a pleasant surprise on Tuesday evening at the annual installation of officers of Div. 23, A. O. H., held in Hibernian Hall on Chestnut street. During the evening William T. Canniff, in behalf of the members of the division, presented Mr. Daley with a substantial purse of gold as an appreciation of the work he has done for the local division. The installing officer was Past State President John F. Donnelly of Cambridge. The officers installed were Daniel M. Daley, president; Patrick O'Connell, vice-president; Jeremiah Sexton, financial secretary; William D. Grannan, recording secretary; William McCormack, chairman of the standing committee; John Brady, scribe; Cornelius Callahan, sergeant-at-arms. Following the installation addresses were made by the installing officer and the local president and then followed an entertainment, made up of an exhibition boxing bout between Neadeau and McLaughlin of Cambridge; buck and wing dancing by Daniel J. Doyle and Edward Nixon; songs by Patrick McCarthy and Thomas Golden; violin and piano selections by the Misses McCarthy. A collation was served at the close of the entertainment.

Arlington High ice hockey team lost to Newton High on Tuesday afternoon in the interscholastic League series, the game being played in the boarded rink at Newton. It was the first game that Arlington had played on a board rink and the boys were more or less handicapped during the first few moments of play. It was during this early stage of the game that the Newton team made their two tallies, the only scores of the entire game. The first goal was made in about three seconds of play by the Newton team, after a fine piece of stick work and passing. A few minutes later the Newton team made the second goal, which was protested by Arlington, but not allowed. From then on Arlington gave good account of themselves and played a star game. In the second period Ross Lynch, one of the fastest players of the Arlington aggregation, received a blow in the upper tip from the stick of one of the opposing team. He was taken to a physician and two stitches were necessary to close the wound. That Arlington has a strong team is agreed on by all and they are looked on as being the team which will win the league championship, in spite of the poor start this week, and play the big series in the Arena later. Every man of the team works well and can skate fast and handle the hockey stick well and Doc McCarthy is sure to have one of the best teams in years. The score of the game was as follows:

One of the most interesting meetings held for some time by the Arlington chapter of the Laymen's League took place Monday evening at 8 o'clock, in the vestry of the First Parish Unitarian church. Mr. Robert H. Treadwell, president of the chapter, presided. After a short business meeting, the audience listened with deep interest and enthusiasm for more than two and a half hours to the personal experiences and reminiscences of Lieutenant E. Norman Hunt, Air Service in the United States Army; Lieutenant William F. Loomis, formerly Lafayette

My consistent attention to details has won for me the approval of those who appreciate dignified service. My willingness to serve the people of this and surrounding towns and cities has become well known.

ette Flying Corps; Lieutenant Robert Sewall, Royal Air Forces and the 85 Canadian Scottish Highlanders, Nova Scotia. The experiences of these men were thrilling, although they were most modest as far as their part was concerned. Many of their most exciting adventures were called forth by questions from the audience. It was interesting to learn that contrary to what has been intimated in the newspapers the money appropriated by the government for the Air service was not wasted. At the close of the evening refreshments were served in charge of Mr. Charles H. Stevens and Mr. Rufus W. Blake.

The exploding of a gas stove at 51 Dudley street, Thursday evening, was the occasion for box 46 being rung in. Damage about $100.

ARLINGTON WOMAN'S CLUB.
The regular meeting of the Woman's Club was held Thursday afternoon in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, with the president, Mrs. Chas. A. Hardy presiding. The large number present was gratifying to the program committee who, in view of the Plymouth tercentenary, had secured a speaker who was well calculated to give a history of Plymouth and its first settlers, as well as to outline the plans for the continuing of the observance of the anniversary, which were inaugurated Dec. 21st, with appropriate exercises. This speaker was the Hon. Arthur Lord, president of the Pilgrim Society and a member of the Plymouth tercentenary commission, who has a wide knowledge of Plymouth. His paper was informing, and he gave data of interest, especially to the coming celebration next summer.

At the close of his paper the Girls' Glee Club of Arlington High school sang with great acceptance. "The breaking waves dashed high," set to music by Mary A. Brown, a sister of the composer of the poem.

Previous to this part of the program, Charles Swain Thomas gave a brief talk on "Better English," telling of some of the methods that could be employed to enlarge one's vocabulary and to improve one's speaking voice and correct wrong pronunciation of words.

Mrs. Harold B. Wood gave two groups of songs, accompanied at the piano by Mr. A. C. Foster, that were much enjoyed not only for the ease with which she sang, but for her clear enunciation. The songs were "Triste est le steppe," "Gretchen now," "Charmant papillon," "Andre," "Boat Song," "Wage," "A Pastoral," from the opera Rosalinda, Zaccini. She responded to one encore and sang the negro spiritual, "Tis me, Lord," by Burleigh.

LEXINGTON LOCALS.
Mr. William Carmichael was the guest of friends in Springfield, Saturday and Sunday. Last Sunday evening the party attended an organ recital in the municipal auditorium. Mr. Carmichael would suggest to visitors in Springfield, not to fail to visit the Auditorium. The organ recitals are so rare a musical treat.

The seventh meeting of the Lexington Outlook club was held Tuesday, Jan. 18, in Old Belfry club hall. Members had the pleasure of listening to Dr. Richard Huxton, who gave a most interesting and instructive lecture on Barrie. It will doubtless lead to a more general perusal of the author's writings.

Lexington Senior Lend-a-Hand has invited the Alliance and Unity Lend-a-Hand to join them on Tuesday, January 25, at ten o'clock, in an all-day sewing meeting to work through the Red Cross on garments for Mr. Hoover's European children. Box luncheon at noon. Coffee will be served. A large attendance is hoped for.

Lexington came in for its share of the cold wave this week. On Tuesday morning it was zero in the centre of the town, and 3 below in North Lexington. On Wednesday morning the mercury was 2 below in the centre, and 5 below in North Lexington. Ice is fast forming on the ponds. If this cold weather continues, ice harvesting will start in earnest soon.

At the First church, Unitarian, next Sunday morning, the service of worship for Young People's Sunday will be conducted by the Junior parish. The speaker will be Mr. William Dole of Melrose, Mass., who is not only active in the Young People's society, but chairman of the Laymen's League chapter in Melrose. Mr. Dale is a graduate of Harvard University. Everyone is cordially invited to attend this service, especially the young people of the other churches.
